Health Center Partners of Southern California Wins PR Daily's Grand Prize as Creative PR Assets Annual Report of the Year

San Diego, CA – Health Center Partners of Southern California (HCP) was named a winner of PR Daily's 2020 Nonprofit PR Awards in the Creative PR Assets Annual Report of the Year Category for its 2018/2019 Impact Report.

PR Daily's Nonprofit PR Awards celebrates teams, organizations and consultants who have redefined the field with their groundbreaking work. As a winner in the program, HCP joins an elite group of past winners, including Sage Communications, National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges, and the Golden Gate National Parks Conservancy.

"The goal of this year's impact report was to deliver meaningful information to the public and our constituents in the economically and geographically diverse areas of southern California that our member health centers serve," said Henry Tuttle, President and CEO of Health Center Partners. "I couldn't be prouder of the hard work and dedication of our design, graphics and communication team members Amy Bruce, Joanna Kunicki, Andria Chen, Han Tran and Brad Fagan," he added.

The 28-page full-color report features dynamic photography, presented alongside detailed program descriptions, and includes complex statistics displayed in a very readable form.

"Health Center Partners of Southern California set themselves apart from an outstanding field of applicants. Their use of innovative design elements presented their numerous programs and initiatives in a visually appealing way. We look forward to continued success from this highly-skilled team," said Brendan Gannon, marketing manager for awards programs at Ragan Communications.
